

Your phone is bugged

Did you know that 2,000 bugs can live on the average telephone mouthpiece at any one time?

Chances are they are living on yours.

That's why it is important to clean your telephone regularly, particularly if it's shared with other people. And it's vital that a dedicated phone cleaner is used. However efficient your cleaning staff may be, if they are using traditional wax-based cleaners and a duster, they are just compounding the problem by spreading the germs around. Equipment cleaned in this way provides an ideal breeding ground for germs, so dedicated and specialised cleaning is by far the most efficient way.

Keep your telephone clean and free from bacteria with the top selling anti-bacterial cleaner which cleans and sanitises, and keeps all your phones sparkling clean and germ free.

It's not just phones that need specialised cleaning, all your office and computer equipment should be cleaned regularly with the UK's leading brand.

Phone-Clene is available in tubs, pre-saturated sachets and handy-sized dispensers. So keep them by the phone for daily use.
